

Winners of BIM Competition 2013

The third BIM Competition held in conjunction with the Singapore Construction and Productivity Week 2013, saw 37 teams signing up – eight of which were from overseas.

Teams are required to provide detailed BIM models and documentation within 48 hours of competition, which started on 29 July 2013. This year's winner of the Education Multidisciplinary Collaboration category was the team from National University of Singapore, SDE BIM Gang.

Says team leader, Koe Choon Wei, "This is our first time participating and it feels really great to win! We've spent one month learning the software, and was here before the 48 hours to prepare for the competition. Our hard work has paid off!"
