

Job opportunity – Research Assistant for research project on behaviour energy efficiency in buildings

1. Job title: Research Assistant
2. Project title: Occupants' behaviour-driven energy efficiency in residential buildings
3. Period of employment: 2-years contract, starting from July 1, 2016
4. Data posted: April 26, 2016 (open until filled)
5. Number of positions: 3
6. Duties and responsibilities:
  - a) Conduct both quantitative and qualitative studies as required by the project
  - b) Write research articles/reports on the subject matter
7. Requirement:
  - a) Master degree in engineering, science, management, or economics; an excellent academic track record; prefer to bachelor degree in mathematics, statistics, or industrial/system engineering;
  - b) Previous experiences in publishing research articles/reports and in managing research projects;
  - c) Deep knowledge on statistics, data analytics, preferable with studies/training in social psychology or communication, or programming skills for mobile app development, or studies on energy economics and behaviour economics;
  - d) Prefer to current/becoming PhD students;
  - e) Good communication for site survey and data collection.
8. Remuneration:
  - Salary will commensurate with the candidate's qualification and experience. Monthly basic salary range: SGD 2500-4000.
9. Interested candidates may submit their detailed CV and supporting documents to: Assistant Professor Lu Yujie (Dr.), Department of Building, National University of Singapore. Email: luy@nus.edu.sg; Tel: +65 6516 5894